LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"NOW?" Olga repeated, with a note of dismay in her voice as she looked around her circle of guests, all of us especially the boys, busy with the rare fruits and cheeses which had climaxed her luncheon

"Oh I don't mean the word literally," I answered laughing as the reproachful eyes of Junior and Roderick met mine "Suppose I substitute soon meaning when we have finished gorging ourselves upon these goodies"

Dicky Interposes

"To be truly alliterative you should say gorging upon these gorgeous goodies'," Dicky interposed

Then he turned serious

"Madge has interpreted me correctly" he said "I really am terribly anxious about Mother, although Katharine assures us that she is in no possible danger, and will be herself again when she wakes up"

"Of course Dicky" our hostess said cordially And I shall dutifully, but reluctantly, excuse you as soon as you have finished the last crumb upon your plates

"I won't even keep you for the extra snack I have palnned for the boys" she added turning merry, affectionate eyes upon the hushed faces of Junior and Roderick "Charles will bring a package down to your own apartment directly you have left here"

Eyes Glowed

The eyes of the boys glowed with appreciation of her tact I guessed that they had been embarrassed at the idea of carrying food home from the luncheon But Olga had solved the problem and I knew that, boy-like, they already were reveling at thoughts of the goodies they were to have

"We can't thank you enough, Aunt Olga," Junior said "for the wonderful luncheon, and all your kindness"

"Indeed we can't," Roderick chimed in and I noted that the voices of both boys were a trifle husky with earnestness

"I am so glad you are pleased my dears," Olga said, and when her mother had finished speaking Olina struck in a bit insistently, looking at me directly

"Auntie Madge," she said if Uncle Dicky goes back with the boys to find out about Granzie Graham do you have to go right away?"

Prompt Decision

One look at her pleading eyes promptly decided my answer.

"No, but I must follow in a few minutes," I told her

"You shall" she said "But I do want to speak to you for just a minute or two"

She did not look at Mary as she spoke, and yet, I received the impression that her stepbrother's wife would be the subject of part of our conversation at least

"I shall be glad to dearest" I told her sincerely, for something in her voice banished the resentment I had felt against her She was obviously contrite—indeed aghast, at what she had planned to do to Mary, and she wanted the catharsis of self-accusation while I listened

As I looked away from her, I met the eyes of her mother, glowing with affection for me and gratitude for the help I could give her daughter, but which she because of the unexpected twist Philip Veritzen had given the situation, might not proffer

Could Not Chide

Olga could not give motherly chiding — and comfort — to her daughter for atempting the humiliating gesture to Mary which Philip had put into words because if she did, she must censure the girl's stepfather

No Philip himself had made it impossible for the subject ever to be discussed between mother and daughter, and—with a thought of my own darling little girl and the possible problems which might confront her — I understood the look Olga had given me

With a glance at Olina's plate—she had refused the fruit and cheese—I pushed my own empty plate aside and stood up

"If you wish Olina" I said we can go and have our talk now"

(You must, of course, meet the necessary entrance requirements.) The Government will pay your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year, and will give you, in addition, $65 a month living allowance ($90 per month if you have dependents).

Meanwhile, in the Army you may have the experience of traveling to foreign lands . . . doing interesting work . . . studying one or more of 200 absorbing skills and trades in fields ranging from aviation to electronics. You'll be well paid, well clothed, well cared for.

3. An increase in the reenlistment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.

4. Up to 90 days' paid furlough, depending on length of service, with travel paid to home and return, for men who reenlist within the prescribed time after discharge.

5. A 30-day furlough each year at full pay.

6. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.

FBI Probes Alcatraz Uprising As Bloody 36-Hour War Ends

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6—The FBI moved into Alcatraz today to collect evidence against three survivors of the half-dozen convicts whose desperate bid for freedom brought a 35-hour siege of their cell-block and left five men dead and 15 wounded.

Not a prisoner escaped.

The three may yet die—in San Quentin's green-painted gas chamber.

"There is a good chance that evidence will be sufficient to indict the surviving participants for murder," asserted U. S. Attorney Daniel C. Deasy.

Sees Joint Blame

Although there were only two guns in the entire group involved in the furious battle, he added, "where one or more participants (in a conspiracy to escape) actually killed someone, the others would be part of that conspiracy, and could be charged with murder."

The three surviving participants said Warden James A. Johnston, were Sam Shockley, 36, serving a life term for kidnaping and robbery in Oklahoma; Miran Edgar Thompson, 39, serving 99 years for kidnaping and life for killing a Texas policeman; and Clarence Carnes, 19, Oklahoma desperado serving 99 years for kidnaping and murder.

Guards broke into the last dark utility corridor of the embattled prison wing Saturday to find the bodies of three others.

Bernard Coy, 46, spry little Louisville, Ky., bank robber who started the uprising by clambering up to a third-tier guards' gallary and forcing his way into it to slug and disarm guard Bert Burch, was defiant to the last.

Other Casualties

Also dead in the narrow passageway were:

Joseph Paul Cretzer, 35, Los Angeles bank robber who had assumed command and carried on the fight furiously.

Marvin F. Hubbard, 36, Tennessee kidnaper, who had lived until Saturday morning — outlasting Coy and Cretzer by one night.

The rifle and pistol which Coy had wrested from Burch were found beside the convicts.

Dead were two guards—one, Harold P. Stites, shot in a valiant early assault attempting to free hostages; the other, W. H. Miller, captured unarmed and killed when the blood-maddened felons turned their guns on their seven hostages. Miller had a key to the back door of the wing—but he threw it into an empty cell and died without revealing it.

Fourteen guards were wounded during the siege; so was one convict, James Groves, described as "a bystander."

COLUMBUS LEADER DIES IN AIR CRASH

By The Associated Press

ROCHESTER, N. H., May 6—A prominent Columbus, O., businessman, his wife and their personal pilot were killed yesterday in the flaming wreckage of a private Grumman amphibian plane which crashed into Parker mountain during a northeast rainstorm.

State police identified the dead as L. L. Leveque, president of the L. L. Leveque Co.; his wife, and Robert Chester Johns, 31, of Columbus, a former Army flier and the plane's pilot.

Police quoted the manager of the Columbus airport as saying that the Leveques took off from there yesterday with Johns and a fourth man. The fourth man was not identified and was not in the plane when it crashed, police added.

Medical Referee Dr. Forrest L. Keay said all three bodies were burned, two of them beyond recognition, by the time a searching party reached the wreckage after struggling through a mile of dense woodland up the side of the 1,425 foot mountain.

The plane took off yesterday from Bluehill, Me., where the Leveques had inspected their summer estate, and refuelled at the Portland, Me., airport, taking off from there at 2:30 p. m. (EDT) after waiting several hours because of weather conditions.

Walter Bissett of Bluehill, employed by Leveque at his summer estate, said the plane was bound for Columbus.

Columbus sources said Leveque, a graduate of the University of Michigan, owned warehouses at Buffalo, N. Y., Chicago, Milwaukee, Rochester, N. Y., and Montreal, Canada, and miscellaneous real estate at Akron and Cleveland, O.

In New York, W. B. Hall, vice president of the Parc Vendome hotel Corp., said Leveque was owner of the hotel and head of the Allen Tool Co. at Springfield, O., manufacturers of airplane parts. Hall said Leveque was also one of the owners of the Lincoln-Leveque Tower, Columbus, O., formerly nown as the AIU building.

Shaded areas are those in which transfer of land by a Palestinian Arab save to a Palestinian Arab is prohibited, except in special circumstances. In remainder of Palestine transfer of land by anyone save to a Palestinian Arab is prohibited, except in special circumstances. Strikes Against Government

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has admitted what long has been evident, that mass strikes in basic industries can become, in effect, strikes against government itself. The coal strike, he told a press conference Thursday, might be considered, in time, a strike against the United States.

Government in the United States is based on the sovereignty of the whole people. Strikes which aim to inconvenience the people to the point of desperation where strike leaders can dictate a settlement become a threat to national existence. This relationship has been acknowledged implicitly in the past by government seizure of strike-paralyzed industries in the interest of the general welfare. There are some industries so intimately connected with the people's welfare they cannot be spared.

United Mine Workers, led by John L. Lewis, has paralyzed production of coal. For more than a month the industry which Mr. Lewis and his organization virtually control has been shut down. The paralysis has been spreading slowly to other parts of our complex industrial organization. If continued long enough, the coal strike could spread chaos throughout the nation.

A strike of railroad operating employes which could do the same thing is in the offing. The recent strike of steel workers carried a similar threat of danger. Such strikes are not merely against employers, whose power to make agreements acceptable to unions is restricted by their own means and in many cases by government regulations. They are against the people.

Mr. Truman, like Mr. Roosevelt before him, is firm in the belief that strikes against the actual organization of government, such as might be called by unions of federal employes, are clearly illegal and contrary to public policy. It is not recalled that Mr. Roosevelt ever acknowledged, as Mr. Truman now has acknowledged, that there can be peacetime strikes of private employes contrary to public policy, also. With the exception of Mr. Lewis, who became his political opponent, labor leaders in Mr. Roosevelt's apparent estimation could do no public wrong with their strike tactics.

It is evident, however, that in a showdown a protracted strike of government employes, say in the Department of the Interior, if such a thing ever happened, might do less damage to the structure of government than could be done by a protracted strike of coal miners, steel workers, telephone workers, or railroad men. Government cannot be insulated against events outside the personnel of government. Ultimately, to some degree, government is affected by everything that happens in the country.

This is not to say, or even to suggest, that men can be made to work against their will because refusal to work might destroy government. That is despotism. It is to say that the American people need to be aware of the tremendous implications of strikes against the public welfare. Strikers themselves need to understand more clearly the potentialities of ruinous power that has come to rest in the hands of a few men who dominate labor unions. Any strike that takes away anything from the ultimate security and prosperity of the nation is a strike against the strikers themselves. They are the people. It is their general welfare that is at stake, their share in popular government.

Unveiling a Policy

IN trying to understand the meaning of a four-power treaty to preserve peace, which is the main contribution to date of Mr. Byrnes in the Paris conference of foreign ministers, it is useful to think of a phrase that has been used to describe the proposal.

Several commentators have spoken of it as the "unveiling of a foreign policy." That is, Mr. Byrnes has revealed to view something previously prepared for exhibit. But the preparation goes back much further in time than the commentators may have realized when they spoke of its unveiling at Paris.

What the United States proposes is that there shall be a formal agreement among itself, Great Britain, Russia and France to do what this nation has done twice without a formal agreement—prevent domination of Europe by a militant Germany. The diplomats at Paris are more mindful than Americans at home that our so-called isolation has been more myth than fact and that the probability of our intervention has been the starting point for all European speculation on the outcome of military aggression.

The United States has been perhaps the outstanding realist among the great nations in deed. But it has balanced realism in deed with a vast deal of illusion in conversation. It has talked isolation and practiced intervention whenever intervention served its purposes. In effect, all that Secretary of State Byrnes has proposed is that henceforth this nation will formalize its practice of intervention by advance notice of intent.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Russia's Aims Behind Investigation of Franco.

WASHINGTON, May 6—Behind the UN investigation, of course, is the purpose of Russia to bestir revolution in Spain, so as to strengthen the Latin front of Communist activity—France on one side, Italy on the other and the three together.

Inner portents suggest the Communists will not get away with it.

Chairmanship of the UN commission went to Australia. Spain sits with both paws on Gibraltar, and Gibraltar paws protectively the British lifeline, the main sea traffic route from Britain to Australia. During the war, Spain made no move against the rock which General Eisenhower, fearful of Spanish acion, used at his headquarters to launch the North Africa invasion. The published diary of Eisenhower's aid, Harry Butcher (which incidentally shows the aid went off on other duties at times when the action became most interesting and thus furnishes great lapses in the military accounting) shows Spain kept the Nazis off, and did not interfere with operations of the British airfield there, which was the key to inauguration of our war action.

Spain today is impotent. Britain or Australia will hardly wish to renew their exposed condition on the rock during the war, by permitting a new Communist-pressured government in Spain the same easy access, which Franco did not use, and the Nazis never were able to employ.

Others On Commission

Others on the UN commission are China, Brazil, France and Poland. I would judge the vote then would be about 3 to 2 against a revolution in Spain or acquisition of Communist or Russan power there. Some authorities are interpreting this matter the other way. They are saying that inasmuch as Brazil is the only commissioner with diplomatic relations to Madrid, the vote would be 4 to 1 for Russian moves to eliminate Franco. Diplomatic relations are not concerned here. This issue gets down to utmost fundamentals. Russia occupies two-thirds of Europe today. She has political agitation alive in the other third, excepting only Spain. In the matter of allowing further encroachments up the rock, I suspect China and Brazil would join Australia, although possibly France would side with Russia's Poland.

In action, however, these UN commissions have been required, for the face of things, to move only by unanimity. A divided vote will be avoided if possible. The investigation will necessarily, then, require much time. Technically it is concerned with the question whether Spain is a threat to the peace of the world. A look at any geography, comparing the size of Spain and Russia could have dispelled this charge, except that the Spanish exile government charged German scentists were in Spain making an atom bomb. This appears preposterous as not even the British, our collaborators in its development, have one, or the wherewithal to make one—yet the charge must be investigated.

Danger Two Ways

Some authorities here have thought Franco would not allow the commission to come into Spain, because Russia's Poland is represented on it. His dangers from thwarting the investigation, however, might be greater than from welcoming it. Yet that is a relatively minor matter in the major stakes on the table in this issue.

Personnlly I suggest Spain let in an American army man, who is beyond politics, to make the inquiry.

A military man who does not care what the Spanish government is in this transitionary moment of the greater world, but who does actually want to know whether any atomic threat to peace exists there, might, by undertaking an investigation, solve the difficulty. Otherwise the issue may be blown up into unrealistic importance for Russian purposes in world politics.

The GI's Lament—
"Don't Call Us Co-eds"

Thirty-six returned veterans have enrolled at Vassar.

Leave it to the American boy to realize the full potentialities of the GI Bill of Rights.

Vassar has been as feminine as a maternity ward.

The only way a man could get in was with the morning milk.

That's why this latest invasion is probably the ex-servicemen's most notable feat. Compared to breaking down Vassar's traditions, scaling the walls of Hitler's Fortress Europe was but a tactical maneuver.

Incidentaly, there are 930 women to 36 men. But thus far, the boys have made no complaint about being outnumbered.

In fact, a couple of sailors in the contingent argue that 30 to one is just about the right ratio.

With a few more reinforcements, Vassar could realize a long-time dream—a football team.

Belated Applause for Bradley

Brilliant General—"Soldier's Soldier"—Gets His Due.

GEN. OMAR BRADLEY

THE invitation to postwar controversy about the quality of generals extended by Ralph Ingersoll in his book "Top Secret" has been rejected by all parties concerned, principally Generals Eisenhower and Bradley of the United States, Field Marshall Montgomery and former chief of staff Gen. Marshall of the United States, and Winston Churchill.

Ingersoll, as an army major on leave from the editorship of the experimental New York newspaper subsidized by Marshall Field, apparently hopes to excite a quarrel between individuals and governments with his book. He deprecates Churchill's "interference" in war strategy, portrays Eisenhower and Marshall as bossed by the British and suggests that Bradley was the real hero of the war. Montgomery, Ingersoll dismisses as a second-rater.

The book has accomplished one purpose, besides that of giving persons in a better position to know what went on than Ingersoll was an excuse to recite the facts. It is a chance for Americans to realize how great a general Omar Bradley proved himself to be under pressure—a chance hitherto denied them by a rush of events that left little time to look beyond superficialities.

One of the many men looking beyond Ingersoll's recital to better-established truths is Roy A. Roberts, managing editor of The Kansas City Star. On a recent trip to Washington Mr. Roberts talked to a number of officers who were in a position to know what went on during the war. In a dispatch to The Star he recently told his impressions.

Generals Eisenhower and Bradley, each admiring the other, worked closely together, with Eisenhower placing a high value on Bradley's ability as a field commander and Bradley placing an equally high value on Eisenhower's ability as a strategist, diplomat and coordinator.

Bradley, Editor Roberts discovered, carried self-affacement to the extreme of deliberately arranging to put the late Gen. Patton in the limelight, knowing the former cavalry officer and World War II tank genius would do his best work for the grandstand.

"Those close to Bradley in Europe," reported Mr. Roberts, "were burned up at times when all the press carried back to America the brilliant deeds of Gen. Patton. But it never worried Bradley. He deliberately fed and encouraged this attention to Patton, because he felt it would sharpen Patton's daring—if anything was needed to do so—and make a better 'ball carrier' of him. That's Bradley. But it probably irked Ingersoll, who was so far down in the lower echelons he didn't really know and understand his chief."

The controversy Ingersoll has tried to fan over Montgomery is similarly doomed because whatever disagreements may have arisen during the war are not going to be reviewed officially. Montgomery's chief fault seems to have been caution, a forgivable fault in the leader of an armed force whose potentialities were as limited as those of the British army during the early part of the war when Montgomery made his reputation.

Farmers Take To the Air

Lead City Folk in Ownership of Planes.

By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN
United Press Correspondent

DENVER — Urban Americans, who long have scoffed at their "hick" cousins in the country, can take a bow to the fast-growing clan of flying farmers.

The flying bug is converting rural America to the sky-skirting pastime at a greater rate than city dwellers.

This statement, abashing to the residents of the metropolis, comes from Charles J. Lowen, Colorado's assistant director of aeronautics. He's made a flying tour of the state and admits he was surprised at what he found.

"I was amazed on my trip to find most of the air-minded people of the state living on farms," Lowen said.

It's not hard to explain though. A farmer just parks his plane in the barn, to the dismay of the horses and cows, and goes for a spin whenever he feels like it. There's no hangar rent to worry about, no trips to the airport.

"More than 1,000 farmers in eastern Colorado either have their own plane now or have ordered one," Lowen reported.

Pastures make good runways with a little dressing up. If the barn isn't a convenient place to keep the winged flivver, a hangar can be put up easily at one end of a field.

"Farmers," said Lowen, "have more use for a plane. It's a lot faster for emergency trips to the city."

Farmer-flyers can use a plane for routine traveling purposes, pleasure, and even farm work. Some more scientific crop growers are using their plane to spray fields or scatter seed.

Most of the air-minded farmers contacted by Lowen have small one-and two-seated jobs. A few have two planes.

"This isn't just a passing fad of the farmers," comments the Colorado aviation official. "It's just the first step toward large-scale flying by private individuals."

Private flying is a little slow in gaining headway in the city because of the greater expense entailed. City dwellers naturally lack the ultra-convenient circumstances that a farmer has for flying. The upkeep of a plane is higher for city people because they have to pay hangar rent.

College Space Sought for Vets

Minnesota President, Native of Marion, Suggests Plan.

MOVES aimed at providing additional educational facilities for veterans and easing the current teacher shortage were reported in one region recently as others focused attention on reconversion and special educational projects.

In response to Governor Dewey's plea for more educational opportunities for veterans, Sarah Lawrence college, Bronxville, N. Y., operated for women only since its founding in 1928, arranged to become co-educational on a limited and temporary basis. An announcement by Dr. Harold Taylor, president, said that a maximum of 50 veterans would be admitted as day students in September.

At the same time, Finch Junior college, New York, announced that it will become co-educational for the first time in 46 years at its summer session. The action taken by Finch is indicative of a pronounced movement among women's colleges to admit veterans. Recently Adelphi college in Garden City, N. Y. decided to admit men. When Hunter college in the Bronx is returned to the Board of Higher Education, it, too, may modify its policy of many years' standing and admit male veterans.

The shortage of teachers in New York City also received attention when Governor Dewey approved a bill which suspends until June 30, 1947 the present law which prohibits teachers from holding more than one job under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education.

Morrill Urges Aid

Meanwhile, Dr. J. L. Morrill, newly installed president of the University of Minnesota, who was born in Marion, discussing the problem of a shortage of educational facilities, recommended that unused Army and Navy bases throughout the United States be converted into educational centers. Warning that the colleges and universities will be unable to accommodate the thousands of veterans who want to enter this fall, he declared that further assistance must be secured from the Veterans' Administration.

Dr. Morrill said that many former Army camps and barracks were no longer being used, adding that with the cooperation of the government the camps could be organized into excellent institutions of higher learning. According to Dr. Morrill, the colleges thus created would be operated by the institutions in the neighborhood. He cited as an example the efforts in this direction being done by New York, where five colleges and universities have decided to operate an educational center at Sampson Naval Base.

Negro College Fund Drive

In New York the third nation-wide campaign of the United Negro College Fund was opened at a gathering of 400 guests. The drive will benefit 33 institutions.

Pledging the support of all races and creeds, William Cotter, president of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, declared that "the people have money and brains enough to do a great job for a great cause."

In the field of public school education, the Denver Board of Education moved to benefit teachers returning from military service by ruling that probationary teachers returning from service will retain their length - of - service status reached before they left for the armed forces. Teachers are employed on a probationary basis during their first three years of service for the Denver schools.

Things Have Changed

In 1870, 60 per cent of all non-agricultural working women in the United States were domestic servants, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Less than one per cent held clerical positions, 6.4 per cent were in the principal professions and 17.6 per cent were factory workers.

Speaking of Figures

Slim "princesse" lines are not the average in the American feminine physique today, according to a recent nation-wide survey by a manufacturer of girdles.

With two inches in girth added in the last five years, the average hip measurement for the junior figure today is 37 inches, the survey showed. Five years ago it was 35 inches. Waist measurement, however, has remained the same, with a national average of 26 inches.

UN on the Midway

THE ghosts of bathing beauties, acrobats, chorus girls and carnival folk will hover over the United Nations in its new home on the World's Fair site in Flushing Meadows, New York, and it may be just as well. The world may never really be said to be at peace and enjoy tranquility again until the return of the day when one swimming star can eclipse the diplomats anytime anywhere. And when mention of "The Big Three" will be taken as reference to a trio of top-flight bathing beauties.

What a world it was when the World's Fair was where the UN will now move!

Hitler still confining his routine to big parades with special emphasis on salutes to a screwball. Mussolini merely a newsreel laugh. Butter, tenderloins, new automobiles and laughter almost everywhere.

Whoever dreamed in the atmosphere of the sideshow, the carrousel, the Ferris Wheel and Billy Rose's Aquacade that on that very midway a League of Nations would one day hold sessions to keep men from cutting other men's throats?

Who ever thought that popcorn and peanuts would give way to agendas and debates? That music and dancing would step aside for international arguments? That cooch dancers would do a fade-out for performers whose movements would require interpreters?

• • •

Who fancied, even after too many drinks and a couple of laps around the trylon and perisphere, that Jim Byrnes, Andrei Gromyko and Trygve Lie would occupy the spot where Billy Rose and Eleanor Holm once stood?

And yet it may be the best possible site for world peacemakers. For music, gaiety, beauty, love and romance still linger in the air where millions once found merriment in a world of fun and happiness.

New York City will spend $1,250,000 to enlarge the municipal building there and make other improvements. Go to it, boys! Put back the trylon, the perisphere, Elsie the Cow and Mike Todd if necessary. And by all means restore Grover Whalen, the man who can install fun and fireworks.

Flushing Meadows may be a sort of Versailles, with hot dogs and pink lemonade, a Geneva with more of a beer atmosphere.

This way, folks!...See the world's most colossal troops of imported secretaries!...Behold the pachyderms of diplomacy!...Hurry, hurry, hurry! The Behemoths of Debate are now performing!...You can't follow the arguments without a pink lemonade, folks!...Popcorn, peanuts and vodka!...See Gromyko, in the world's most stirring disappearing act of all time...And now that marvel of the air, Miss Harmony, in astounding feats of dexterity high up in the big top!...Watch the little lady as she is tossed about by the International Aerialists! Hurry. Hurry! Hurry!"

Duffers' Delight

By TRUMAN TWILL

Having begun what shall be known for want of a better name as another golfing season, we think we duffers should quit apologizing for our lack of skill. Our money is almost as good as the golfers. In fact, if we had anything to do with golf courses we would come to grips with reality and play to the duffer trade.

The first thing we would do would be to erect a canvas screen between the point where the duffer tees up for his first shot and the point where the goons hang around to watch this painful experience and laugh. Then if a duffer chose to throw the ball by hand, which is what many of us would like to do, to get started, no one would know the difference.

Most of us duffers are bashful fellows who go to golf courses because the doctor or someone who can't mind his own business told us to get into the open air and forget our troubles. So we accumulate a bagful of snake-killers and a couple of balls, a companion who also needs to get out into the open air and presto, we have a new set of troubles that make the old ones insignificant.

As we say, we have opened another season. A couple thousand other duffers also have been opening it. We do this by undercutting the ball and opening a hole in the grass. It says on the rules the player should replace the divots, which is what comes out of the hole, but when a duffer makes a divot it disintegrates.

Something else we would do for us duffers is set up a duffer's par. This would not be lady's par, which is too low, but the real thing, worked out to give the fellow who is going to take six strokes on a three-stroke hole a chance to boast he too made something in par. After all, if the golf business didn't have us duffers it wouldn't last long, therefore it should do something to make us happy.

It might even be a good idea to lay our course for duffers only, no good players allowed unless they promise to play the game with the wrong hand. Misery loves company, and nothing takes the heart out of us duffers like seeing the bird behind us get on the green in one stroke after we have taken four.

We do not know why we play golf at all except it is an excuse not to work. When you tell the boss you are going to knock off early to play a round of golf, he raises only his eyebrows. But if you told the boss you were going to neglect your work to go for a walk, he would raise the roof. Anyway, boss, we are at it again. We have scored the usual 108 for nine holes which is an approximation. Some holes more, some holes less and no penalty for strokes where we ended up too close to the ball.

BOWLES SAYS PEOPLE READY FOR RATIONING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—Chester Bowles, citing the possibility of "some tougher" famine relief measures, said Saturday he knows America will accept restoration of food rationing if it becomes necessary.

"At the moment," the economic stabilizer said in a radio address, "I don't see any immediate necessity for that.

"We are a rich country—rich in just about every kind of food. And there should be enough for us to go on eating well, and still do our food share for others.

"But if we should have to go back to some sort of food rationing, I know the American people would accept that."

Bowles thus echoed views expressed by President Truman. The Chief Executive told his news conference this week that he didn't believe rationing could be reinstituted fast enough to do any good at this time.

But he added that he would not hesitate to order it if there should be disastrous crop failures.

Aides of Bowles as well as OPA and agriculture department officials said that thus far there has been no actual planning of any rationing program, nor any discussion whether preparations should be made for printing ration books.

Charge Embassy Clerk With "Hooligan Acts."

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, May 6—Waldo Ruess of Hollywood, Calif., United States embassy clerk, received a summons Saturday to appear Wednesday in the Moscow city prosecutor's office to answer charges of committing "insolent acts" against an actress from one of Moscow's state theaters.

The Moscow newspaper Trud, in one of the few instances in which it has published court news, printed an account under the headline:

"Hooligan Acts Of An American Citizen."

"Riding in an automobile with a Soviet citizen, an actress in one of the Moscow state theaters," the labor newspaper said, "a member of the American embassy in Moscow, Waldo Ruess, permitted himself a number of insolent Holligan acts towards her.

"Ruess' Hooligan acts were stopped only after interference by a policeman, who hastened to the citizen's cries for help.

"In accordance with Soviet laws, Ruess will be brought up for criminal proceedings."

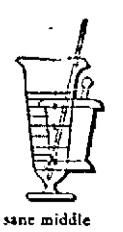
WORRY AND INDIFFERENCE



★ Overanxiety, particularly about health, is a disease in itself. Physicians call it hypochondria. Those who "enjoy" ill health only make themselves and those about them miserable

Opposed to chronic worry is complete indifference, to the point of disregard of commonsense health rules and contempt for medical care.

Between these two absurd extremes lies the sane middle road. Petty, transient discomforts need not cause grave concern and frequent trips to the doctor. When symptoms persist or recur with annoying frequency, it is then time to seek professional assistance. Indifference under these circumstances only invites more serious trouble.

Couple Exchange Wedding Vows In Church Here

THE First Evangelical and Reformed church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Doris J. Heiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Heiser of 225 East Farming street, and Theodore Harper, of the U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orva Harper of near Edison, Sunday afternoon. Only the immediate families and a few close friends were present for the ceremony read at 2:30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. E. H. Wierth. A program of nuptial music was played by Mrs Fred Sinning.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Heiser as maid of honor and her cousin, Mrs. Earl McDonald of Galion as bridesmaid. The bride's brother, Robert Heiser served as best man for the bridegroom who is a fireman 1st class on an aircraft carrier based for the present at Boston.

The bride was costumed in a light blue suit with which she wore a small white hat, navy accessories and a gardenia corsage.

The maid of honor wore a suit in a dusty pink shade and Mrs. McDonald was in rose. Their flowers were corsages of white carnations.

Mrs. Heiser chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue costume and the bridegroom's mother wore a coral ensemble. Both wore corsages of red roses.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents and later the couple left for Boston. Mrs Harper was graduated from Harding High school and is employed in the office of the Fairfield Engineering Co.

GOVERNOR SNUBBED BY WISCONSIN G.O.P.

By The Associated Press

OSHKOSH, Wis., May 6—The Wisconsin Republican party, long at odds with Gov. Walter S. Goodland, openly repudiated the 83-year old chief executive yesterday by refusing to support his bid to remain in office.

The party meeting in convention here, also virtually ignored Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, by passing him up to indorse Circuit Judge Joseph R. McCarthy of Shawano, a Marine Corps veteran, for the senatorship.

Delbert J. Keney of West Bend, a 50-year old investment banker, was indorsed for governor. Kenny, former Wisconsin department commander of the American Legion, was beaten by Goodland in the 1944 primary.

The setback does not eliminate Goodland and LaFollette from the Aug 13 primary picture. Both will campaign without the official G O P. indorsement.

LaFollette recently led the return of Progressives to the Republican ranks. He was elected six years ago as a Progressive.

A letter from Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) supporting LaFollett's bid for reelection, was circulated on the convention floor and aroused considerable comment.

MEEKER GUILD MEETS

Mrs. Wasserbeck, mother of the bride, wore a gray costume with a corsage of yellow roses.

A wedding dinner for the bridal party and members of the immediate families was served at the home of the bride's mother. M'GREGOR PROTESTS LAND PURCHASES

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, May 6—Congressman J. Harry McGregor has charged that a large number of property owners in the Olentangy river reserve area signed land contracts and leases only after pressure was applied and threats made

In a letter to Brigadier General Roscoe C. Crawford, chief of the Army Engineer Corps, McGregor said he was positive appraisers used did not have any idea of the value of the property involved and that their tactics used in appraisals were not those usually followed by army engineers.

Stating that Col. Claude Fletcher, head of the Cincinnati real estate division of engineers had advised him that local appraisers would evaluate property to be acquired in the future, the congressman declared this concession alone was unsatisfactory. He said "I feel that use of local appraisers should be a mandatory requirement, not only for future purchases but also to resurvey the property already appraised and possibly contracted."

U. S. CALLS RUSSIANS ON TRADE POLICIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—The United States is taking up with Russia the whole system of exclusive trading arrangements which the Soviet Union is putting into effect with its smaller neighbor nations.

Officials who disclosed this today said that so far no satisfactory replies have been received from Moscow. In fact, they added, Washington has been able to learn very little officially about what kind of agreements the Russians actually are making.

The whole undertaking is part of an American campaign to set up throughout the postwar world a relatively free private trade system. Also a part of this effort is the recent request of 15 foreign nations, including Russia and Britain, to wind up their official purchasing missions in this country as quickly as possible.

What state department officials are reported really concerned about are the British and Russian trade systems. Problems with Britain already have been canvassed in connection with the $3,750,000,000 loan proposal now pending in the senate. Russian problems may be take up in detail if and when the Soviet Union decides formally to seek a proposed $1,000,000,000 loan here.

Does it, for instance, contemplate the complete domination of the eastern hemisphere, both Europe and Asia? Those are questions which must be answered.

The differences in viewpoint between Russia on the one hand and the western Allies on the other have become so pronounced that small powers are taking advantage of the divergence. We see this well illustrated in the Palestine crisis. The Arab league, comprising several Arabian states which are neighbors of Palestine, are reported to be planning to send a delegation to Moscow to ask that Russia support the Arabs in Palestine against the Anglo-American inquiry committee report which calls for the immediate immigration of 100,000 more Jews into the Holy Land.

"Zones of influence" are one of the trouble-makers which we shall get rid of when we finally achieve our Utopian world. They've whelped a lot of wars through the centuries.

GI's Expected To Lend Tone to Hot Bands

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS—"The services are turning back much better musicians than those they drafted."

That—from a man whose band has been introduced on the radio for more than 20 years with the familiar "Let's go dancin' with Anson."

Anson Weeks, who started Bob Crosby and Xavier Cugat, among others, on their way to the top, says, "these boys coming out of the service are a lot more versatile than when they went in. You are going to see a much better brand of dance music in this country and the ex-GI's will be entitled to the credit."

Boys who had never done anything more than "beat it out" with a six-piece swing outfit found themselves drafted into Army camp and Navy base symphony orchestras. They started to play and enjoy music in which they had little interest before. That, says Anson, is what is making the big difference.

"There were no booking agencies out in the Pacific and these fellows were called on during lulls in the fighting to play everything from the 'One O'Clock Jump' to the '1812 Overture'."

Fraulein Fashions Called Bad Copies of Those in Paris

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Writer

BERLIN — Fashion, never a vital thing in Germany's capital, is closer to utter extinction today than ever and the few well-dressed women here are doing what they've always done: follow Paris, blindly and badly.

A few German designers are making clothes, with bad ersatz material or super-expensive black market cloth. But they are clothes that can be seen in last year's Paris collections or old copies of American fashion magazines.

Shop windows show the long suit jackets beloved of the Paris couture, with the tight-fitting waist line. Dresses use material generously. Skirts are short. Detail work is coarse and the fine workmanship of France lacking.

Paris' occupation joke—those huge over-decorated hats—really impressed the German conquerors, for their women are still wearing them though France dropped them like hot cakes the minute she was liberated.

Still in evidence too are the hair-fashions which are as dated as the hats. Fraternizing frauleins and window-shopping fraus on Berlin's Fifth Avenue, the Kurfurstendamm, affect those high pompadours and elaborate coils of hair that disappeared before V-E day. Others—brunettes—still copy the two-year-old Paris vogue of a single bleached forelock.

But these are things that the well-dressed and moneyed German woman is able to wear. What the average German woman in moderate circumstances wears on the street must be seen to be believed.

Slacks and ski pants are much in evidence, even now that warm weather has come to Germany. More women wear bandannas than hats—and the bandannas are worn much as one would put on a bathing cap. Coats are plain, dingy black (Germany had a dye shortage) and badly cut. Dresses are straight cut, ill-fitted and utterly without style.

Few women have gloves, and their shoes are usually of leather, but so old, so run-over that it is painful to watch them walk. A few women have silk stockings, but they are thick, of disagreeable colors and usually with many darns in them.

It is impossible to compare German fashion or German women with the French or the Americans, for both of the latter have a feeling for clothes. Germans apparently do not. Whether from necessity or taste they run to drab colors and shapeless clothes.

WORLD FUND OPENS FOR BUSINESS TODAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—The 39-nation world monetary fund opened shop today, calling its executive directors into their first business session with the goal of starting world currency stabilization by October.

The 12-man directorate is expected within the week to choose its chief executive, a $30,000 a year tax-free managing director.

The world bank, sister organization of the monetary fund conceived at Bretton Woods, N. H., in 1944, will start tomorrow in luxurious but borrowed quarters.

The bank president, by tacit agreement reached at the recent Savannah, Ga., monetary conference, will be an American.

This leaves England, second in voting strength, free to designate the manager of the $7,397,300,000 monetary fund. But Britain, having no candidate of her own, is believed ready to pass the post to a nation of allied economic interests.

President Sets Army's Budget

Asks Congress To Set Aside $7,246,335,200 for Next Fiscal Year.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—President Truman today submitted to congress a program calling for expenditures by the war department in the next fiscal year totaling $7,246,335,200.

The President said the estimates contemplate maintenance of an Army of 1,070,000 men and officers on June 30, 1947. This would compare with 1,500,000 on June 30, 1946.

In addition to maintaining this strength the estimates provide $500,000,000 for government and relief in occupied areas and 200,000,000 for the atomic service formerly carried on by the Manhattan project.

The program compares with the preliminary appropriation estimate of $7,100,000,000 for the fiscal year 1947 which was included in the regular budget submitted by the President last January. It compares also with estimated obligations of $19.3 billion during the current fiscal year and to $52 billion for the fiscal year 1945.

The statement says that cash expenditures of the war department for the fiscal year 1947 are estimated to run to $8,000,000,000. This is $600,000,000 greater than the preliminary estimate included in the regular budget 'due principally to larger expenditures from prior year appropriations than had previously been anticipated."

Allowances—total $182,782,000 have been made for the reactivation of the National Guard and organized reserves.

ARABS MAP CHARGE IN PALESTINE CASE

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, May 6—The Arab leadership in Palestine was reported today to be preparing to charge before the International court at The Hague that the British-American inquiry commission's report is a violation Britain's mandate over Palestine.

Auni Bey Abdul Hadi, described by Arabs as the leading legal mind among Arabs in Palestine, was reported by an associate to be preparing the case. His brief, it was said, will state that implementation of the report would be sufficient grounds for dissolution of the mandate under Article 22 of the dissolved League of Nations covenant, the associate said.

Some 800 Arab women, led by a Christian and a Moslem, paraded from the mosque of Omar to the Jaffa gate at noon today in a demonstration against the report, which recommended the admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine.

Palestine police and military forces halted the procession at Jaffa gate and prevented it from continuing outside the old city. Police closed the gate immediately, erected a barbed wire barricade across the road and established an armed barrier.

TEHRAN, Iran, May 6—Iranian officers expressed belief today that the Russians have completed the evacuation of their troops. They admitted, however, they had no official information about whether the Red army had left the semi-autonomous northern of Azerbaijan.

A government spokesman said the Russians had left four northern provinces and were quitting Azerbaijan rapidly. A foreign official expressed doubt, however, that the Russians possibly could evacuate Azerbaijan by todya, deadline for the withdrawal of their troops.

CHURCH GROUP HOLDS MEETING

Holy Name Society Has Instruction Session at St. Mary School.

Monsignor Robert F. Coburn of Columbus, diocesan director of the Holy Name Society and Rev. Thomas E. Carey, O.P., assistant director of the National society and editor of the Holy Name Journal, were the principal speakers at a meeting of officers of Holy Name societies from parishes in the Western deanery, Sunday in St. Mary parochial school, in the interest of furthering the work of the Holy Name society. The meeting, one of 90 being held in the parishes and missions of the Columbus diocese, was attended by 100 representatives of the societies in the deanery.

Following the general meeting the group was divided into units in the various classrooms where men from the Columbus society conducted sessions on the specific duties of the officers. Meetings will be held here and in the various parishes to further the work.

Rev. Spickerman Host

Rev. William J. Spickerman, dean of the Western deanery and pastor of St. Mary church was host for the meeting and the speakers were introduced by Rev. James Carroll, assistant pastor. Following the meeting Rev. Spickerman entertained the visitors at supper at the Marion Hotel Coffee shop.

Monsignor Coburn was named diocesan director of the society by Bishop Michael J. Ready, whose aim is to have an active unit in each parish and mission in the diocese. Ordained in Columbus in December of 1922 he was assigned to St. Joseph's cathedral in Columbus and taught at St. Charles seminary. He is pastor St. Catherine's church in Bexley, which parish he founded in 1931.

The Holy Name society was founded in 1274 to suppress blasphemy, perjury, profanity, unlawful swearing and improper language, and has its origin in the Council of Lyons. The society received its greatest impetus in the United States under the direction of Rev. Charles Hyacinth McKenna who was made the first national director in 1900. The society was established in Marion in 1908. At that time the late William P. Kelly, serving as grand knight of the Knights of Columbus, with his fellow knights requested Monsignor Joseph M. Denning, then pastor of St. Mary church, to petition the Dominican Fathers to establish a branch here. Rev. Father Healy, O. P., a former assistant pastor of St. Mary church and then stationed at Aquinas college, was the organizer of the society. Approximately 400 men and young men over 18 years of age are affiliated with the local society.

Her "Brood" Visits at Her Brooder

By The Associated Press

When the pupils of Duncan School near Millersburg, Ill., visit their teacher, they find her in a brooder. When Mrs. Mary Riley came to the school she couldn't find a home. She bought an octagonal brooder house, had it assembled in the school yard. Neighbors installed insulation and a small stove kept the structure warm even in coldest weather. Now after 30 years of teaching, Mrs. Riley plans to resign to become chief operator at the Millersburg switchboard. She won't have to buy another brooder, however, for a house is supplied with that job. Teacher and seven of her pupils are shown here in front of the unusual home.

TOJO AND 26 OTHERS DENY WAR CHARGES

By The Associated Press

TOJO, May 6—Hideki Tojo and 26 other war-time leaders of Japan today entered staccato pleas of innocent to charges that they unleashed a war of aggression and murder in the Pacific and were ordered to trial June 3 despite their counsels' protest that the interval is too short.

The Far East tribunal, before which the 27 appeared for their first formal hearing, however, will convene again next Monday to permit the defense to renew its emphatic challenge that the court has no jurisdiction in the pending cases.

The only defendant not entering a plea of innocent was Dr. Shumei Okawa, who was absent from the courtroom undergoing a sanity examination by Allied psychiatrists as a result if his slapping Tojo's bald head in the court last week and other prisoner's box antics.

French Thrift Lesson

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

French cookery, especially the kind which is done in French homes, has long held an important lesson in thrift for Americans. As Louis Diat, chef of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York, points out in his new Home Cook Book, writing about his mother's cookery-skill and thrift: "The waste common in this country would have left her compltely bewildered."

It is stupid to waste food. We always have been mistaken in letting the great plenty at our disposal allow us to be careless. In a world with so many starving human beings in it food waste is worse than stupid. It is really wicked.

Louis Diat's book will be of great help to any American housewife who wishes to provide her family with delicious food and still waste no ingredients. That should be the aim of all of us, in the light of the demands made upon us by President Truman and Mr. Hoover.

LOUIS DIAT prepares a dish of Pot au Feu. . . .

One of the most thrifty and delicious French dishes is Pot au Feu. It is served usually on Sunday in every French home. And there is enough left over for another meal, beside extra stock for the basis of soups or sauces to be served later in the week. At the first serving, the meat and vegetables may be served in the soup, or the soup comes first (clear), to be followed by the meat and vegetables. Here is Louis' recipe:

Pot-Au-Feu

3½ pounds meat and bone (rump or fresh plate of beef), 4½ quarts water, 2 tablespoons salt, 2-3 carrots, 1 turnip, 1 small parsnip, 5-6 leeks, 2 stalks celery, 1 onion, a little thyme, ½ bay leaf, 1 clove.

Cover meat and bones with water, bring to a boil and parboil 5 minutes. Remove meat and bones, discard water and clean pot. Put back the meat, bones, the 4½ quarts water and salt and bring very slowly to a boil, skimming all the time until the scum stops rising to the top. Boil very gently for 1½ hours, add vegetables (which have been cleaned and cut in pieces of any desired size) and cook for 2½ hours longer. Skim off the fat and correct the seasoning. Remove as much bouillon as desired for serving, and the vegetables. Strain remaining bouillon through cheesecloth or fine sieve, let cool and keep in refrigerator for use in soups or sauces. To make the bouillon a good brown color, brown an onion, sprinkled with a very little sugar, in butter in a frying pan, and add to the soup.

There are some particularly fine chicken recipes in Louis Diat's book, helpful in providing variety despite meat shortages.

Chicken Saute Louisette

2½-3 pound chicken, 2 tablespoons butter or salad oil, 1 small onion, chopped, ½ glass white wine, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 clove garlic, crushed, ½ cup stock (or left-over gravy or canned tomatoes, 4 tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped, cooked rice, chopped, cooked ham, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley.

Clean and singe chicken and cut in 8 pieces (each leg and second joint in one piece, the two wings, the breast in 3 pieces, and the back). Put butter (or oil) in saucepan and when hot arrange pieces of chicken in it and cook until brown on both sides. Add onion and continue cooking until onion is golden brown. Sprinkle in the flour, add garlic. Add wine and stock (or tomatoes), cover and cook 25 to 30 minutes. Remove pieces of chicken to another pan, place fresh chopped tomatoes on top and strain sauce over. Cook about 10 minutes longer, then arrange in center of a ring of cooked rice in which a little chopped ham has been mixed. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Texarkana Hunts "Phantom Killer" as Murder List Swells

By The Associated Press

TEXARKANA, Tex., May 6—With only three clues, Texas and Arkansas officers today sought the slayer of Virgil Starks, farmer, and the assailant of his 30-year-old wife as stories of a "phantom killer" of Texarkana spread through this border city.

Starks was fatally wounded near midnight Friday as he sat in his home, struck by a bullet fired through a window. Starks' wife was shot twice in the face as she attempted to telephone for help. Her condition is serious.

A flashlight, .22 calibre bullets and a footprint in blood were the only clues with which officers have to work with. The flashlight was found in Starks' yard.

The slaying brought to five the number of murders committed in this area since March 24.

Army To Turn Back Fairgrounds at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 6—The Army will give back to Crawford county May 31 its fairgrounds and $20,000 to put the area back into shape to hold fairs.

The Crawford county fairgrounds was taken over by the Army March, 1942, and was used as a barracks area for railroad battalion units undergoing training. The soldiers lived in the fairgrounds area and received their training at the nearby New York Central railroad shops. The installation was known as Camp Millard.

It was not believed the grounds will be ready for a fair this year. The Army erected 62 buildings on the site, many of which will have to be removed, and the race track will have to be newly laid out.

The group of farm state lawmakers who make up the special committee called Stabilization Chief Chester Bowles, OPA Boss Paul Porter and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson to Capitol Hill for an airing of their own and congressional views on price and other controls over dairy products.

"Trolley" Wires Guide Blind Man Working a Farm Alone

By The Associated Press

MOORELAND, Ind.—Ninety-nine-year-old David Rhoades, although blind for 15 years, leads an active life at his farm home near Mooreland, where he lives alone.

When he goes out to the barn to the chores, out to the carpenter shop to make repairs, or to the garden which he tends without help, Rhoades take a "trolley ride."

His trolleys are rows of kinky haywire strung from the house to each of his habitual destinations. He hooks his cane over the trolley he selects, then follows it exactly to the spot he wants to reach.

"I like to be kinda independent," Rhoades says, and shows what he means by doing all the chores around his farm alone

He put a new roof on his barn without help. He cooks and bakes for himself. He tends the garden entirely by his sense of touch.

Rhoades' hobby is fixing clocks. He is especially adept at repairing antique wooden clocks, making the parts that need replacing.

He will celebrate his 100th birthday next September 10.

HONOR AWARDED BUCYRUS MARINE

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 6 — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin were scheduled today in Washington to receive the nation's highest award, the congressional medal of honor, posthumously awarded their son, Marine 1st Lieutenant Harry Martin for gallantry in action on Iwo Jima.

They left here Sunday to motor to Washington, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin and their daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Slater. Robert Martin is a Navy veteran.

Lt. Martin was killed in the action which won him the award. A letter to his parents from his commanding officer said that Martin had saved the lives of many of his comrades by attacking several hundred Japs who had broken through the lines into a rest area, confusing them and giving the Americans a chance to retire. The action occurred at night. According to the letter, Martin had attacked the Japs twice, each time alone and lightly armed. He was wounded the first time and killed the second.

Martin, a graduate of Bucyrus High school in 1928, was a civilian construction worker in Hawaii at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack. He returned to the United States and joined the Marine corps as a private. He received a commission after attending officers' candidate school at Camp LeJeune and was promoted to 1st lieutenant on Iwo Jima.

Nebraskan "Collects" Old Covered Bridges

By The United Press

LINCOLN, Neb. — Covered bridges are a thing of the past to almost everybody except Fred C. Williams, who collects pictures and data about them as a hobby.

Photographs and stories about bridges in 22 states are included in the collection. Its latest addition is a picture of a snow-covered span in Iowa, the only one from that state.

The Massachusetts highway department sent 8-by-10-inch glossy prints of every covered bridge in the state, and those of Maine, Maryland and Missouri contributed smaller photographs. Williams also saves newspaper clippings, postcards and other items on the bridges.

Prize of the collection is data on a span near Biddeford, Me., to which the poet Longfellow is believed ot have referred in his poem, "I Stood on the Bridge at Midnight."

Bridges in New England are the most interesting, Williams explains, because so much legendry has grown up about them. However, only about 200 are found in that region. According to his figures, Ohio has 600, Pennsylvania 350, Oregon 400, and Indiana 200.

New Mines To Boost Coal Output in Russia

By The United Press

LONDON—Russia's coal production under the new five-year plan will bring 30 additional mines into operation and boost output to 25,000,000 tons in 1950, a Moscow radio report has announced.

Maj. Gen. Maltsov, writing in Trud, newspaper organ of the government-controlled trades unions, said that one of the major coal basins under the plan will be the new Pechora coal basin. Pechora already "is contributing one-fifth of the total Soviet fuel coal output, although development of this basin was started as late as 1941."

The coal basin is situated north of the Pechora River and stretches up the coast to the Karsk Sea. According to incomplete data, Maltsov said, the coal is assessed at 38,000,000,000 tons of many varieties suitable for fuel, heavy industry and gas production.

Maltsov said 18 mines now are in operation and 48 will be producing by 1950. The Pechora coal basin, he reported, will supply material for further development of the Ural heavy industries, supplying all northern Ural industrial centers. The entire production of the Karaganda and Kuznetsk coal basins will be turned to the central and southern Ural industries.

One of Famous Smiths Celebrates 15 Years in Radio.

KATE SMITH . . . "Just folks" to millions of fans. . . .

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Writer

Because she sounds like the girl next door, Kate Smith, radio singer and commentator, has stayed at the top in radio for 15 years.

That's the best explanation the experts have been able to arrive at for the unprecedented and sustained popularity of this hearty, wholesome star who is heard each week by 42 million persons. Her contralto voice is rich and pleasant, but not of Metropolitan Opera caliber. Neither her face nor her figure would take any beauty prizes. But she puts on no frills, and she regards all those listening millions as "just folks and friends."

Kate Smith (christened Kathryn Elizabeth) was born May 1, 1909, the daughter of a news-dealer in Washington, D. C. She began singing in a church choir, sang for soldiers around Washington during the first World War and then began turning up regularly for amateur nights at local movie houses. After training briefly to be a nurse, Kate came to New York, got a singing part in a show, "Honeymoon Lane," and at 17 was singing the comedy lead in "Flying High."

But Kate was a fat girl and wasn't allowed to forget it. Critics poked fun at her. Audiences giggled. Then one Ted Collins, sales manager for a phonograph recording company, heard Kate one night and asked her to make some records. From then on things happened. In 1931 Kate made her debut in radio, over CBS, with Ted Collins as her manager. The combine has lasted through the years. The two are partners in the corporation "Kated," sharing all profits with mutual harmony and enthusiasm. Says Kate:

"I am proud of these 15 years. I am proud and happy—not because of any laurels and success that may have come my way, but because of the many friends who have been so kind and the many happy associations since my first broadcast in 1931. A long time ago Ted Collins, my mentor, told me that the people listening in were 'just folks and my friends.' I'll keep right on singing for those friends, as long as they want me to."

They Help Blind Regain Sight

Widows of Five U. S. Presidents Serve on Council of Eye Bank.

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Writer

The mother of three grown sons ran down the steps of the hospital as lightly as a girl and signaled a passing taxi The driver glanced at her curiously as she stepped into his cab—her face sparkling, her eyes shining.

"Must be something special, lady," he said, as he wheeled toward her destination, Pier 56

"Special!" she cried "Yes, it's special. You'd think so too if you could see again after being blind for 15 years' And that's not all. I've just had word my oldest boy is coming home from war today. I'm going to see him—really see him—for the first time since he was a little tike of 10"

The sight she had lost when a pressure cooker exploded in her face years before had been restored by a corneal graft operation—the replacement of a clouded cornea by a clear one It was made possible by the work of the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration, established in February 1945 to collect and preserve healthy corneal tissue from human eyes for transplanting to persons who had lost their sight because of defects of the cornea.

Women in Leading Roles

The Eye Bank, which now has affiliations with 80 hospitals in nine states, grew out of the need and vision of some of the country's leading ophthalmologists But women have played a telling part in its growth and are now rallying in a nationwide movement to extend its scope. The Eye Bank's executive director is Mrs Henry Breckinridge, wife of a New York lawyer, who has long been identified with humanitarian, civic and philanthropic work

On the organization's council are the widows of five ex-presidents of the United States, Mrs Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Mrs Theodore Roosevelt Sr., Mrs Calvin Coolidge, Mrs Benjamin Harrison and Mrs Thomas J. Preston (widow of Grover Cleveland). Other less famous women are sponsoring the bank's work through an educational program conducted by various women's organizations, and still others have offered to give their eyes after death to be used in the corneal graft operation.

Prompt Service

Members of the Red Cross Motor Corps provide a 24-hour service making speedy delivery of eyes, which at present can be preserved for corneal grafting only 72 hours, by shuttling them from hospital to place and from the New York airport to the Eye Bank at 210 East 64th Street, New York. All eyes must be examined at the bank before they can be used in the operation.

"Much of our work is educational," says Mrs. Breckinridge "We want the public to know that after death their eyes may be the means of restoring sight to some one who is blind We also want people to understand that corneal grafting cannot restore sight to all the blind—such as one who suffers a defect of the optic nerve. Some rush here at needless expense and are disappointed. The thing to do is to consult a reputable eye specialist and let him contact the Eye Bank."

Delicate Operation

The corneal graft operation requires great skill, but it involves a simple principle The cornea (a thin, transparent dime-sized piece of tissue, curving in front of the iris and pupil) is the eye's window on the world. When the corneas of both eyes are clouded by injury or disease, their owner becomes blind. The corneal graft operation consists of cutting away the clouded cornea and replacing it with a piece of clear, healthy cornea, thus restoring vision through the "window"

The healthy cornea comes either from an eye which has had to be removed from a living person because of a tumor or other cause not affecting the cornea, or from one who has just died and previously stated specifically in writing that he wished to make such a gift. Eyes are removed from the dead only if they have signed a paper donating their eyes after death and only if they have died in hospitals where the eyes can be quickly removed.

Supply Inadequate

The need for corneas far outstrips the supply As soon as an eye is available, the hospital calls the Eye Bank, which informs the first surgeon on its waiting list, who notifies one of the patients on his waiting list. Eye, surgeon and patient are brought together as fast as possible, because of that 72-hour deadline, and the operation is performed in about 20 minutes.

Dillon Dam Backers Stage Session Today

By The Associated Press

ZANESVILLE, O., May 6—A campaign to support the proposed $10,000,000 Dillon dam project on the Licking river was to be launched at a meeting in Marietta today of officers and directors of the Muskingum Valley association. The association, composed of property owners and business men along the Muskingum river between here and Marietta, have expressed opposition to an alternate plan for 13 small dams on the grounds that continued controversy might lead to abandonment of all flood control plans for the Licking river. The Licking valley protection association favors the 13-dam plan.

TOM IRELAND
Unexpired Term U. S. Senate

TOM STATES: "While Infantry Captain with the armed forces two years ago, I began an intensive study of the causes of World Wars I and II. At present I am running for the unexpired term of Harold H. Burton for United States Senator, and I have visited every one of the 88 counties of Ohio. It is my belief that the title of Senator will enable me to meet statesmen abroad to obtain information for my book on the most practical way to prevent another World War. If you believe that I can contribute something definite to the cause of a lasting and workable peace, then I shall greatly appreciate your putting an "X" before my name on the ballot on Tuesday, May 7th."

MARION AND NEWARK SPLIT EVEN AS OSL RACE KNOTS UP

Fass Saves 7-5 Nightcap Victory for Joe Roseberry

Relief Job Gives Win to Southpaw; Moundsmen Take Opener 13-7; Cards Invade Zanesville.

Special to The Star

NEWARK, May 6—Marion's hustling Cardinals move into Zanesville for a three-game series tonight still singing the praises of righthander Freddie Fass' relief pitching which saved the Cardinals a 7 to 5 victory over Newark in a nightcap of a double-header here Sunday afternoon after the Moundsmen had won the opener 13 to 7. Attendance was 1,265. Saturday night's game was rained out.

Newark entered the last half of the sixth inning the second game behind 7 to 0, but star southpaw Joe Roseberry developed a blister on his pitching hand and the Moundsmen scored five times to narrow the count.

Ed Bucynski, with two out and two on, hammered out a home run drive to left field. That was enough for Roseberry and Fass came in to fan Leckrone for the final out.

Fass then struck out the first two Newark batters in the seventh inning. Venninger singled to left and Boken bounced a hit off Fass' glove. But the Marion righthander ended the struggle by whiffing Joe Selvaggio.

Marion tallied three runs in the first frame and racked up three more in the fourth. The Cardinals put their last marker on the scoreboard in the fifth on doubles by Simpson and Rapp.

Southpaw Bill Wollard hurled the first five frames to take the beating for Newark. Roseberry allowed only two singles until the big Newark Sixth. He got credit for the win.

Marion got away to a fast start in the opening frame of the first game as Frey walked and Steve Lazar poled a home run over the center field fence. The Cardinals were then stymied until the top of the seventh whey they picked up five markers with Leo Perini's circuit clout to left field with two men on being the feature.

The Cards made six costly errors and Newark chipped in with nine hits off three Marion pitchers. Manager Bob Boken of the Moundsmen smacked in three runs with a double and triple.

Steve Lazar, second sacker for the Cardinals, had a home run, single and triple in the first game and a double in the night cap. Newark kept him off base only once in seven trips to the plate. He had to retire in the fourth frame of the second game due to a twisted ankle.

DERBY KING ASSAULT HEADS FOR PIMLICO

Eight-Length Winner Tries for Daddy's Mark.

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. May 5—They've been saying for a long time now that no dice game or roulette wheel ever was as big a gamble as racing horses, and if there's any lingering doubt about it, take a look at the Texas kid with the Brooklyn accent—derby-winner Assault.

The Derby darling with the deformed foot—bred by a Texan in Texas and trained by a Texan, but piloted by a jockey from Flatbush—takes a train ride to Baltimore today, trying to make history repeat.

If he gets the black-eyed susans at Pimlico Saturday on top of the roses he won so easily in the 72nd and richest Derby last weekend before the greatest crowd ever to see a horse race in America—more than 100 000—he'll be doing just what his daddy did a decade ago.

But behind the try of this first Texas-born horse ever to take the Derby is the story of all the heartbreak and the gamble that go into breeding and racing a thoroughbred.

Take his daddy, for instance—Bold Venture. Old Bold won the Derby and they said he was lucky, that Brevity was a lot more horse. Bold Venture won the Preakness, too, but just when it looked as if he might go on winning, he broke down and had to retire. Robert J. Kleberg, owner of the cozy million-acre King Ranch in Texas paid M. L. Schwartz $40,000 for him as a stud horse.

Meantime, a filly whose father was the great Equipoise, was born on King Ranch in 1937. She was called Igual. Igual was so puny and sickly, they even considered destroying her right then.

Her third child, by Bold Venture, was Assault. When a year old, Assault hurt his right front foot. The doctors said he'd never recover. But the stable hands called in another vet. He cut the hoof almost entirely away and Assault recovered.

Last Saturday as an 8 to 1 shot, he set off a stick of dynamite at Churchill Downs, and waltzed home by eight lengths. The photographs show he wanted to run so much he pulled the little Brooklyn booter—Warren Mehrtens—clear out of the saddle trying to hold him in along the backstretch.

They paid him $96,400 for the job, and now he has a bankroll of $144,450.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Charlie Keller, Yankees—Drove in two runs with homer and double to lead Yankees to 4-2 victory over White Sox.

Cecil Travis, Senators—Smashed out five hits in five tries and batted in four runs to pace Nats to 12-4 win over Indians.

Bobo Newsom, Athletics, and Hank Greenberg, Tigers—Newsom spaced nine hits to win his third game 10 2 in the opener, Greenberg belted homer and single in nightcap to give Tigers an even break 5-4.

Stan Musial, Cardinals and Johnny Hopp, Braves—Each garnered six hits in twin bill. Musial's three safeties in opener helping Cards win 7-2 while Hopp's two homers and one-baser in the nightcap sparked Braves to 10-4 win.

Jimmy Brown and Frank Gustine, Pirates—Brown singled in 11th inning to score Jack Barrett with run that gave pirates opening game against Dodgers, 5-4. Gustine doubled home Frankie Zak for 4-3 win in second.

Buddy Kerr, Giants and Ray Lamanno, Reds—Kerr's seventh inning double was the big factor in three run rally which gave Giants a 3-2 opening game. Lamanno slammed two doubles and a single to help Reds win nightcap 7-4.

Four Teams Tied for First, Two for Runner-up Spot

By The Associated Press

The Ohio State league is all tied up today with a four-way deadlock for first place and a two-way standoff for the runner-up post following Sunday's doubleheader program which produced the first no-hit no-run game of the young season.

Tied for first are Zanesville with four wins and two losses, and Richmond, Springfield and Dayton, all with 2-1 records or percentage ratings of .667. Behind the top four are Newark and Marion with three victories and three defeats each. Lima is seventh with two wins in six starts and Middletown is in the cellar with three straight losses.

Zanesville's Dodgers and the Dayton Indians copped double-headers to gain a place in the top-spot deadlock.

Jim Parton, Dodgers pitcher, turned in the league's first no-hit no-run performance, a seven-inning nightcap effort, as Zanesville downed Lima's Terriers, 5 to 0. A Zanesville pitcher was the star of the first-game triumph, too. Pitcher Hardy Holt drove a 365-foot home run into center field to drive in two runs. Zanesville won the tilt 3 to 1.

Centerfielder Elroy Dalton was the star of Dayton's initial victory over the Middletown Reds, banging out four hits in four trips to the plate as the Indians thumped the Reds, 8 to 4. The second tilt went an extra inning, with Dayton pushing over a tally in the last of the eighth to win, 4 to 3.

Newark's Moundsmen and the Marion Cardinals split even to remain tied for runner-up honors.

Richmond and Springfield also traded victories at Richmond, Ind. The Roses staged a six-run rally in the last of the sixth to cop the opener, 6 to 3, but Springfield came back with a 12-hit attack in the nightcap and triumphed 10 to 4.

Reds Take Rest After Splitting with Giants

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 6—The Cincinnati Reds, who divided a twin bill with the New York Giants yesterday, rest today for the finale of a three-game series with the New Yorkers tomorrow.

Joe Beggs was Manager Bill McKechnie's overnight choice as the Red's starter and Mel Ott said he would use either Bill Voiselle or Rube Fischer.

The Giants packed all of their scoring into the seventh inning of the opener yesterday and knocked Johnny Vander Meer from the mound to win 3-2. But it was the Reds all the way in the nightcap as they combed three Giant pitchers for 11 hits and finished on top of a 7-4 decision.

Vander Meer was in command of the situation until the seventh. At that point the Giants combined three singles, a double and two Cincinnati errors for a trio of runs and then coasted to victory.

In the second game, Cincinnati scored a run on Bob Joyce, the New York starter, in the opening round and, after counting another in the second, shelled him from the mound with a four-run outburst in the fourth.

Musial of Cards Slugs Way Toward .400 Season at Ba

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Judging from the way Frank Musial has been renew acquaintances with his pitching "cousins," the St. Louis Cardinals' slugging outfielder may become the first big leaguer attain a .400 batting mark since 1941 and the first National leag to reach those heights in 16 years.

With most of the attention focused upon such pre-war pow hitters as Boston's Ted Williams, New York's Joe DiMaggio a Detroit's Dick Wakefield, the 25-year-old ex-gob, who interrupted a brilliant career to join the Navy at the end of the 1944 season, quietly has been mauling enemy hurlers for 27 hits in 65 appearances at the plate to compile a batting mark of .415.

Can Pass Records

At his present gait, Musial easily will surpass the .406 mark established by Williams for the Red Sox in 1941 and the .401 figure Bill Terry reached in 1930 with the New York Giants.

The classy Cardinal flychaser has been a terror to pitchers from virtually the first day he joined the Redbirds in September of 1941. In a dozen games he rolled up a .426 percentage and two years later he won the batting title with a .357 average. The following year he was runner-up to Brooklyn's Dixie Walker, finishing with .347.

Musial got six hits yesterday as the Cards gained an even split with Boston's Braves and moved into a first place tie with Brooklyn in the National race. His trio of safeties in the opener helped give the Cards a 7-2 decision and Lefty Max Lanier his fourth victory without defeat. The Braves with big Mort Cooper holding his former mates to 10 well scattered blows, turned the tables in the nightcap 10-4.

Another former Redbird with Boston, outfielder Johnny Hopp, also got six hits for the day, two of them home runs in the nightcap as Boston manager Billy Southworth got an even break in his first series in St. Louis where he gained his greatest fame by leading the Cards to three consecutive pennants.

Pittsburgh knocked the Dodgers out of undisputed first place by sweeping a double header before an overflow crowd of 37,953.

Sewell In Hospital

Rip Sewell, who hurled the first nine innings of the opener for Pittsburgh, was taken to a hospital suffering from a gastro intestinal upset.

Huge Ernie Bonham made his 1946 New York Yankee pitching debut a success by whipping the Chicago White Sox 4-2 before 33,938. The Yankees fifth straight victory moved them within a game and a half of the American league leading Red Sox. Charlie Keller played a prominent role in handing Ted Lyons his second loss, belting the 45-year-old ex-Marine for a double and a homer to drive in the winning markers.

Detroit's losing streak soared to seven until Hank Greenberg snapped the string by belting a homer and then setting off two-run rally with a single to give the Tigers a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia. The Athletics copped the opener 10-2 as Bobo Newsome, aided by Sam Chapman's fifth homer, notched his third victory.

After suffering a 13-1 drubbing at the hands of the Chicago Cubs in the first game, the Philadelphia Phils came back to win the second game 7-1 before a record Wrigley field crowd of 43,505.

COAL

down Lewis's No. 1 demand—for a health and welfare fund for his miners.

Urge U. S. Action

Earlier the senate heard several of its members demand government action to reopen the mines.

Seizure, however, was not being mentioned seriously among labor department officials as a likely next step—for the big reason, they said privately, that the government has no assurances that the 400,000 idle miners would return to their jobs even then.

What is expected first, instead, is some government suggestion of possible compromise proposals which might form the basis for real collective bargaining between Lewis and the operators.

The immediate hurdle to full give-and-take discussions is Lewis' demand for some $3,000,000 in back pay for holidays occurring since Mr. Truman wiped out the wartime order requiring payment for six major unworked holidays. Lewis insists that the old contract required payment for those holidays regardless of any change in national policy.

The union contends the assembling of the 250-man policy committee here tomorrow is routine and does not necessarily presage a "break" in the negotiations.

Fund Is Key

Lewis' demand for a union-administered health and welfare fund still is the key to settlement. (The operators say he wants a 10-cent royalty on each ton of coal mined—enough to net his union $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 annually.)

Lewis apparently is fairly well satisfied with the operators' oft-expressed desire to do something on his other big non-wage proposal, improved mine safety.

Inter-America Defense Urged

Truman Asks for Bill To Let U. S. Collaborate in Hemisphere Defense.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—President Truman asked congress today for legislation authorizing a program of military collaboration with other American countries, "including the training, organization, and equipment of the armed forces of those countries."

He transmitted the draft of a bill entitled "The Inter-American Military Cooperation Act," and asked its enactment.

Asserting that the American republics have assumed new responsibilities for their mutual defense and maintenance of peace, he said it was "highly desirable to standardize military organization, training methods and equipment as has been recommended by the inter-American defense board."

Under the legislation, he said, the Army and Navy, in conjunction with the state department, would be permitted "to continue in the future a general program of collaboration with the armed forces of our sister republics with a view to facilitating the adoption of similar technical standards."

"Certain additional training activities, not covered by existing legislation, would be permitted," the President told congress. The President would also be authorized to transfer military and naval equipment to the governments of other American states by sale or other method.

"The collaboration authorized by the bill could be extended also to Canada, whose cooperation with the United States in matters affecting their common defense is of particular importance."

The President said it was incumbent upon the United States government "to see that military developments in which we have a part are guided toward the maintenance of peace and security and that military and naval establishments are not encouraged beyond what security considerations require."

Hoover Slaps Russia for Holding to Food

"Japan must have some food imports. Without them, all Japan will be on a ration little better than that which the Germans gave to Buchenwald and Belsen concentration camps . . . "

Hoover told the press conference he based his statement on information from General MacArthur's occupation headquarters and praised MacArthur's food staff as one of the best he had seen.

MARINE CHIEF RAPS MERGER

Vandegrift Tells Senators Army Determined To Cripple Corps.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift came out fighting today to save his Marine Corps from the extinction he said is threatened for it in the opening Army-Navy merger bill.

In language he acknowledged was "unquestionably vigorous," the four-star Marine general contended that the Army "is determined to reduce the Marine Corps to a position of studied military ineffectiveness.

"And the merger bill in its present form makes this objective readily attainable," Vandegrift declared in testimony prepared for a closed session of the senate naval committee. The text of his statement was made available by the Navy.

A member of President Truman's informal council of military elder statesmen, the Marine Corps commandant coupled sharp criticism of Army planning and theories with an underlined reminder that "the Marines are ready."

"If it came to a fight today," he added, "I do not know who could replace them."

The naval committee is in its second week of hearings on the merger bill written by the senate military committee. It calls for a single department of common defense to replace the present war and navy department.

Steels, Motors Lead Slow Market Slide

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 6—Steels and motors today led the stock market on another slow retreat.

Light selling again was attributed mainly to the stalemated coal strike and its serious effect on virtually all lines of industry.

Declines of fractions to 2 or more points were widespread near the fourth hour.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

PUPIL FOR BOND ISSUE

We, the people of Marion, realize the fact that our school buildings are run down and overcrowded. Most of them are without the proper facilities for athletics, school plays and choir and band concerts. Such are some of the physical problems with which the schools of Marion are now faced.

If the people of Marion will devote their full attention to these matters and will spend the necessary money to improve our schools, we can fully continue the progress in this all-important field that has been achieved in the past. An indication of the advancement which has been made in American education may be seen by the fact that "since 1900 the percentage of young people between the ages of 14 and 17 who have been enrolled in high schools has been increased from 11 per cent to 73 per cent.

If all of us can help the "School Bond Issue" succeed, then our generation may enjoy a measure of prosperity and security unparalleled in the history of Marion. If this measure fails, the consequences may be disastrous.

Funk Praises Nazi Handling of Money

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, May 6—Walther Funk told the international military tribunal here today that Germany had kept her currency stable throughout the war and had "overthrown the old thesis that war disturbs monetary values," but he quickly disowned any share in Nazi economic policies.

The former Nazi economics minister and Reichsbank president, testifying in his own defense, said that Hermann Goering, as plenipotentiary of the four year plan, had dictated to the ministry of economics until 1942. After that it was Albert Speer who called the signals as minister of munitions, he said.

Funk admitted that he had issued decrees barring Jews from economic life after the anti-Semitic riots of 1938, but defended his actions on the grounds that they served to insure the Jews from further terror.

LOS ANGELES, May 6—Prodded by Mayor Fletcher Bowron's warning that Los Angeles' four-day-old transit strike already has become "intolerable," company and union representatives resume negotiations today amid indications base fares may be increased from seven cents to three rides for a quarter.

Nearly a million street car and bus riders continued to rely on friends, taxicabs and their own ingenuity for transportation.

The lines' 4,000 operating employes struck to implent the AFL transportation union's demand for $1.36 an hour and a 40-hour week. The company offered $1.15 hourly with hours unspecified. Pre-strike rate was $1.03 an hour and a 44-hour week.

Hillman Sees Peril To Price Control

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 6—Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee, said today that congress had made a "shambles of the Price Control act, betraying the interests of the people and threatening to plunge the nation into an orgy of inflation which can end only with national disaster."

Hillman, president of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, declared in the keynote address prepared for the union's 15th biennial convention that a congressional "coalition has blocked, defeated or emasculated every other item of urgent social legislation."

More than 1,000 delegates to the clothing workers' convention heard Hillman reiterate his attacks against the house committee on unAmerican activities.
